

This is a detailed urban planning map of a residential area, likely in Vietnam, showing a proposed road network and green spaces. The map features a central red-shaded area representing a new road or development. Surrounding this are existing residential blocks with pink and yellow buildings. A large green area in the center contains a blue circular feature, possibly a park or sports field. The map includes numerous labels for streets and landmarks, and a north arrow in the top left corner.